

City University of Seattle Academic Repository Agreement Form

City University of Seattle values open access to scholarly work. Making your work openly available online means it is more likely to be discovered and cited by others, and is your opportunity to contribute to your profession. You gain from having your work cited; other researchers gain by being able to use your research.

This form gives City University of Seattle permission to deposit your submitted academic work (such as a dissertation, thesis, capstone project, academic poster, or other high-quality academic work) in the City University of Seattle Academic Repository.

Access Options

1) Open Access (default if no preference is selected) Select this option if you wish to make your academic work openly available online under a Creative Commons Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivatives license. City University of Seattle gains a non-exclusive right to retain, reproduce and distribute the deposited work in whole or in part, in and from its electronic format. This is not a transfer of copyright.

2) Citation and Abstract Only (full text by permission of author) Select this option if you wish to have only the citation and abstract available online. By selecting this option, the work you are submitting will be stored in the academic repository but will not be accessible as an immediate download. Your work will still be in the repository and a record for it will be discoverable, but the full text will not be immediately available except with your permission.

City University of Seattle may make and keep more than one copy of the work, and may migrate the work to any medium or format for preservation and future access. City University of Seattle will not make any alteration to the work, other than as allowed by this agreement. You retain copyright for your work at all times.

Signature

By signing below, you agree that the work you are submitting for inclusion in the City University of Seattle Academic Repository has been vetted by your faculty advisor or supervisor and run through a plagiarism detection service (if applicable) such as Turnitin. You are warranting that your work is original to you and does not, to the best of your knowledge, infringe or violate the rights of others. Furthermore, you warrant that you have all the necessary rights to permit City University of Seattle to reproduce and distribute your work, and that any third-party owned content is clearly identified and acknowledged within your work.

Access options (please select one): Open Access Citation and Abstract Only*

Title of Work Submitted "Towards Authenticity: A Qualitative Exploration of the impact of resilience on Gender Identity Formation in Transgender and Genderfluid Persons: A research proposal."

Date the Work was Created or Presented September 15, 2015

Course Number (where the work was created) and Instructor's Name (if applicable) CPC 603, Vancouver B.C., Karen Grant

Program & Degree Masters of Counselling

Location of Study (City and State or Province) Vancouver, B.C.

Author Name (First / Last - please print) Danielle Sjolie

Author Signature Danielle Sjolie Date Nov 4/15

*Phone # or E-mail (for Citation/Abstract Only option; Will not be made public) dsjolie@ualberta.ca

Faculty Advisor or Supervisor's Name Dr Karen Grant

Faculty Advisor or Supervisor's Signature [Signature] Date Sept 23/15